

Top Coaches on the Fluid Motion Factor Program

Yellin: David, you have coached players that have won 18 Major Championships. What distinguishes these players from the field?

Leadbetter: Consistency under pressure.

Yellin: How does one become consistent?

Leadbetter: I thought it was just more practice until I met you (laughs). But now I know a player has to access the Fluid Motion Factor or else they are just rolling the dice out there.

"I have found Steven's Fluid Motion Factor to be a game-changer, literally. Our team has used FMF and I can see the simplicity they have gained in their swings as well as the ability to remove the drama from each outcome. FMF is applicable to so many sports and is taught the same way regardless of the sport thus making it the universal key to unlocking the talent we already have stored in our bodies."

MaryLou "ML" Mulflur
University of Washington Women's Coach

University of Washington Win: Pac 12 Preview. Won by 11 strokes

"Steven's methods allow a player to access all the hours spent practicing and put them to use in the moments needed. It allows a player to set aside the problem of a busy mind and replace it with a simple, quiet approach to the shot at hand. Finding those quiet moments when a player is at peace and plays their best golf sometimes feels like grabbing smoke, but Steven gives the process substance and allows you create the quiet needed to play great golf."

Jeanne Sutherland
SMU Women's Coach

SMU Win: East/West Match Play. Beat Ohio State and UC Davis

"In my current tenure as an NCAA Division I coach and someone with over 23 years of competitive experience it's important to me that I communicate simple ideas to the players in my program, ideas that will afford them the opportunity to create the one thing every great player is looking for which is more CONSISTENCY! When I first discovered the Fluid Motion Factor program over two years ago I instantly knew how special this program was and that it was exactly the type of information that we wanted to share, for three reasons: 1. It was easy to apply 2. It truly works and 3. Every great player should be educated in regards to creating an environment that supports great golf. Steven has created a program that every golfer needs to know about."

Marc Chandonnet
Seattle University Men's and Women's Coach

"In less time than it takes to play a round of golf, the members of my golf team discovered the simplicity of great athletic performance. As my players did the drills that Steven developed, I witnessed their swings dramatically change, without a word of instruction. I would not have believed it if I had not witnessed it myself! Their ball striking skill level changed before my eyes and their confidence level shot through the roof."

Shelly Liddick, LPGA
